Preface

This is one of a series of volumes presenting final results of the 1954 Census of Business for Retail, Wholesale, and Selected Service Trades. Statistics for Retail Trade are contained in two volumes, Volume I and this volume. The 1954 Census, which was conducted by mail canvass of business establishments and by use of Internal Revenue Service records (See "Method of Enumeration" in Introduction), was authorized by law under Title 13, United States Code, Section 131. Previous business censuses covered the years 1929, 1933, 1935, 1939, and 1948.

Important to the conduct of the 1954 Census of Business was the cooperation of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and the Internal Revenue Service in permitting use of certain records thus making possible a material reduction in the cost of enumerating the Census. The Bureau also acknowledges the assistance of many private and public organizations in the planning phase of the census and the excellent cooperation of some 1,750,000 business establishments in completing the required Census forms.

The advice of trade associations, individual businessmen, research and marketing organizations, and government agencies was invaluable in determining the feasibility of collecting various types of data and the methods for minimizing the burden of reporting, as well as in determining the types of information which would be of greatest value. Especially helpful was the Advisory Council on Federal Reports which, through special panels of business experts, advised and assisted in the development of inquiries. Because of budgetary and other limitations, it was not possible to collect all of the data recommended by these groups. Timely publicity given to the Business Census by chambers of commerce, business organizations, trade papers, local newspapers, and television and radio stations aided greatly in informing businessmen of the nature and objectives of the census and facilitated the collection of census reports.

Primary responsibility for the 1954 Census of Business program was centered in the Business Division of the Census Bureau, under the direction of Harvey Kailin, Chief of the Division. Henry Wulff, Chief of the Retail Trade Branch, supervised the retail trade segment of the Business Census. He was assisted by Gerda S. Mones, Assistant Chief of the Retail Trade Branch, and Philip M. Chenoweth and Caesar G. Hill who were chiefly responsible for handling technical problems.

Processing of the 1954 Census of Business reports was performed by the Economic Operations Division, under the supervision of M. D. Bingham, Division Chief, and Irving Weiss, Assistant Chief. Donald K. Weasmer, then Chief of the Retail and Service Census Branch, was responsible for processing Retail Trade reports and tabulations. He was assisted by Jack A. Scharff and John S. Lannan.

In the Field Division, Jack B. Robertson, then Chief of the Division; Ivan G. Munro, Assistant Chief; and Arthur L. Cook, then Chief of the Economic Census Branch, directed the field work for the Census of Business.

Important functions were also performed by the Machine Tabulation Division under C. F. Van Aken, Chief; Mrs. Catherine M. Neafsey, Chief of the Economics Section, was responsible for machine tabulation techniques and procedures used in Retail Trade tabulations.

Geography Division personnel participating in various phases of Business Census work were Clarence E. Batschelet, Chief; Robert C. Klove, Assistant Chief; and William T. Fay, Chief, Survey Planning Branch.

Donald K. Heiser, Chief of the Electronics Systems Branch, assisted by Rudolph M. Micoly, Chief of Operations for the Branch, was responsible for planning and use of electronic computer and accompanying equipment. Robert H. Brooks, Chief, Graphics Branch, was responsible for preparing Census of Business publications for reproduction. Mrs. Elma Beynon of the Statistical Reports Division reviewed all text material and table forms, and assisted on publications problems.

Volume VI: SELECTED SERVICE TRADES—AREA STATISTICS

United States summary and separate chapters for each State, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii. Statistics by counties, cities, and standard metropolitan areas, and by kind of business; with cross classification by kind of business for standard metropolitan areas and for cities and counties with 200 or more service establishments. (Chapters alsn are issued as separate reports in bulletin series S–1.)

CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT BULLETINS

Central business district statistics are published in a series of separate bulletins comprising a report for each of 95 selected large cities. These bulletins are not bound in a volume. Bulletins contain comparative 1954 and 1948 data on number of establishments, volume of sales (or receipts), and annual payroll for all retail stores and about 25 kinds of retail business, and for hotels and motion picture theaters. Areas for which data are presented include the central business district, the city in which it is located, the standard metropolitan area containing the city, the city outside the central business district, and the standard metropolitan area outside the central business district.

INDEX TO CHAPTERS

The pages of this volume have been numbered independently within each chapter; page numbers consist of two parts, the first part being the chapter number. Thus 1-14 is chapter 1, page 14 (United States Summary); 10-19 is chapter 10, page 19 (Florida); etc. Page 3 of each chapter contains a table of contents for that chapter. A map appears on page 2 of each chapter: in chapter 1, the U. S. map showing Census regions and divisions; in State chapters, a map showing counties and standard metropolitan areas. See "Description of Tables" for titles of tables in each chapter.

The area chapters of this volume comprise the statistical portions of previously published area bulletins (series R-1). Corrections, if any, found after publication of the area bulletin are indicated at the end of the chapter for that area. Corrections have been noted (in the appropriate State chapter, of this volume) only for cities, counties, and standard metropolitan areas, since these are the data significantly affected. Corrections have not been noted in the United States Summary chapter.

INTRODUCTION

The 1954 Census of Business, along with the 1954 Censuses of Manufactures and Mineral Industries, was authorized by law under Title 13, United States Code, Section 131. These 1954 Censuses covered businesses operated in continental United States, Alaska, and Hawaii. Separate Censuses of Business and Manufactures for 1954 were also conducted in Puerto Rico jointly with the Commonwealth Government.

The 1954 Census of Business covered Retail Trade, Wholesale Trade, and Selected Service Trades. This volume provides findings for that portion of the 1954 Census of Business which relates to Retail Trade.

KINDS OF BUSINESS COVERED

This report covers all establishments included in Retail Trade, defined in accordance with the principles of the Standard Industrial Classification System, as published in Volume II, Nonmanufacturing Industries (1949 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, issued under the auspices of the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President), with the exception of milk dealers which, in conformity with a subsequent action of the Bureau of the Budget, have been classified in the manufacturing industries. (See Food Stores, page 4.)

Retail Trade, as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, and as covered in the 1954 Census of Business, includes establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise directly to personal, household, and farm users. Excluded from Retail Trade are places of business operated by membership clubs and open only to their own members or personnel, such as restaurants and bars operated by country clubs, school cafeterias, cafeterias operated by industrial plants for their employees, establishments operated by agencies of the Federal Government on military posts, and hospitals.

METHOD OF ENUMERATION

For purposes of coverage in the 1954 Census of Business, retail establishments were divided into two categories--those with any paid employment during 1954, i. e., the "employer" universe and those with no paid employment during 1954, i. e., the "nonemployer" universe. The method of obtaining Census information for these two groups was as follows:

Enumeration of "Employers."—Information for establishments having paid employees and engaged in retail trade was obtained by means of a mail canvass. Report forms were mailed to all business firms included in the active records of the Internal Revenue Service as subject to payment of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes (i. e., employers of one or more persons) and which were classified in the records of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance (BOASI) as wholly or partially engaged in retail, wholesale, manufacturing, mineral industries, and in major groups 70, 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, and 79 of the service portion of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual. In addition, report forms were mailed to all establishments which BOASI had not classified by kind of business prior to the mailing of the report forms. Each establishment was mailed a report form appropriate to its BOASI classification (for those cases for which BOASI classification had not yet been established, a general purpose form was used) but its 1954 Census classification was determined by replies to questions on the Census report form.

Enumeration of "Nonemployers."—This group was defined to include retail businesses other than those represented in the active FICA records of the Internal Revenue Service. Information for this group of establishments was furnished by the Internal Revenue Service and was derived from the 1954 tax returns. Information was compiled from only one-half of these cases and census results for this group were established by multiplying such findings by two. The "nonemployer" segment of retail trade, although made up of a large number of establishments, accounted for less than 10 percent of the total retail trade volume.

COMPARISON OF 1948 AND 1954 CENSUSES

The 1948 and 1954 Business Censuses differed in several respects, which affect to some degree the comparability of data. In the case of some of these differences (items 1, 2, and 3, below) it has been feasible to revise the 1948 data either to put them on a comparable basis with the data for 1954 or at least to minimize noncomparability. The more important differences are as follows:

(1) The adoption of a "nonstore" retail category (see KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION, below) importantly differentiated the 1954 Census from previous censuses and resulted in some differences in the figures by kind of business. In the publications issued in connection with the 1948 and previous Business Censuses, the "nonstore" retailers were not separately classified, as in 1954, but were included with "stores" in each kind of business. However, the 1948 Census figures shown in this and other 1954 Census of Business publications have been revised to show the "nonstore" retailers on the same basis as they are shown in the 1954 tables.

(2) The 1954 Business Census excludes those establishments with no paid employment in 1954 which had a sales volume of less than $2,500 in that year. Previously published results of the 1948 Census excluded establishments which operated the entire year but which had a sales volume of under $500. However, in this volume the 1948 figures have been revised to the same dollar cutoff as used in the 1954 Census. This change was made to help achieve greater comparability between the two censuses, although it should be recognized that changes in price level which have occurred between 1948 and 1954 have the effect of complicating comparisons between the two censuses. Use of the same dollar volume cutoff does not take into consideration such changes in price level. However, this situation does not importantly affect a comparison between the two censuses with respect to the total dollar volume of sales, as establishments in this range constitute an insignificant fraction of the retail sales volume.

(3) The definition of Retail Trade in the 1954 Business Census differs from that of the 1948 and previous censuses by the exclusion of "milk dealers" (see KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION, below). The 1948 data shown in this volume have been revised to the 1954 basis and will differ in this respect from the results in previously issued 1948 Census of Business publications.

(4) The adoption of the mail canvass method in the 1954 Business Census, described under METHOD OF ENUMERATION, above, made it feasible to extend the coverage of the census to "nonrecognizable" establishments. In the 1948 and previous Business Censuses, coverage was limited to places which were "recognizable" as business establishments to enumerators who systematically canvassed all city blocks, roads, highways, etc. The use of the mailing lists and records, referred to above, for the 1954 Business Census made this limitation unnecessary and resulted in the addition to the census coverage of "nonrecognizable" businesses, e. g., businesses operated from homes, businesses operated on an itinerant basis, etc. Most of the "nonrecognizable" cases in the 1954 Census are thus classified in the "nonstore" retailer category (see KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION, below). The 1948 figures carried in this volume have been revised to show figures for the "nonstore" retailers separate from the "store" type retailers. The effect of the inclusion of the "nonrecognizable" cases is substantially confined to the "nonstore" group and to "total" retail trade. It is believed that the inclusion of "nonrecognizable" establishments has had a greater effect on the count of establishments than on the volume of retail sales.

(5) The change in method of enumeration also resulted in the inclusion in the 1954 Business Census of a number of establishments which were in business a part of 1954 but not at the end of 1954. In the 1948 and previous Business Censuses, the coverage of establishments (except for those of large multiunit organizations for which special canvass procedures were used) was substantially limited to places which, at the end of the year, were still in business. In the 1954 Census, however, the inclusion of establishments not in business at the end of the year was possible to the extent that such establishments were included in the active files of the Internal Revenue Service used for mailing-list purposes or to the extent that they were identified in the records used for the "nonemployer" universe. In both 1954 and previous Business Censuses, the count of establishments is limited to those in business at the end of the year. Other items of data, however, include figures for part-year establishments not in business at the close of the year. The extent to which data for such establishments have been included in the 1954 figures will be noted in later publications.

(6) Comparability of 1948 and 1954 Business Census results also is affected by differences in the items of information collected for kind-of-business classification purposes and in the classification techniques. A description of these differences is provided in the section below, on KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION.

A special problem in comparability of data from census to census exists because of the use of the establishment as the unit for kind-of-business classification. Although an establishment may change its kind-of-business characteristics gradually, a change in kind-of-business classification is made for the establishment as a whole at a specific point in time. For example, with the addition of appropriate lines of merchandise, an apparel store at some point becomes a department store, or a men's shoe store becomes a family shoe store. When a change in classification is made, the new figures, as compared with figures on the old classification basis, will show an increase in the new kind of business by the total amount of the establishment's sales and a corresponding decrease in the previous kind of business in which the establishment was classified. Often there are offsetting changes in classification, so that changes between censuses in the amounts shown for various kinds of business are independent of changes in individual establishment classification. However, particularly when the volume of business is growing rapidly and new lines of merchandise are being added, the changes may not be mutually offsetting.

(7) A factor which in some cases may importantly affect kind-of-business comparisons was the change made from the 1948 Census practice of consolidating leased departments with the stores in which they were located. In a census conducted by field enumeration methods, it was feasible to identify the reports to be thus consolidated; in the 1954 Business Census, however, the elimination of the field canvass made such consolidation difficult to accomplish. For this reason, in the 1954 Census, each leased department was treated as a separate establishment and was classified in accordance with the kind of business it conducted. For example, in the 1954 tabulations a leased department selling apparel would be classified as an apparel store even though it was located in a department store or in a store classified in some kind of business other than apparel. It also should be noted that in the 1954 classifications, the procedure which separated the leased department from the main store could affect the kind-of-business code assigned to the main store because that code did not take into account the lines of merchandise carried by the leased department. The 1948 figures contained in the 1954 Census of Business publications have not been adjusted to the 1954 basis for leased departments. In addition to the material included in KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION, below, reference should be made to Tables 12K, 12L, and 12M in Volume II of the 1948 Census of Business for an indication of the kinds of business where the change in leased department procedure might have had the greatest effect. Volume I of the 1954 Census of Business will present separate data for leased departments.

(8) One other important difference in the two censuses is in the treatment of sales and excise taxes levied directly on the consumer. In the 1948 Census of Business such taxes were not included in the total sales and receipts of retail establishments, whereas they were included in the 1954 Census. The effect of this change varies from State to State depending on whether there was a State sales tax law and on to what items the tax law applied. In general the tax is about two or three percent on the items covered. The Federal excise taxes on retail sales, while a higher percentage, were limited to selected items, and generally did not constitute a large fraction of total retail sales.

In addition to the factors detailed above, certain others could have affected the comparability of the 1948 and 1954 Censuses. In the 1954 Census, the use of the business schedule of the income tax form to account for "nonemployer" businesses probably has occasioned some undercoverage of such small businesses. Although there would have been no significant effect on total dollar volume of sales reported in the Census, because of the small size of establishments involved, a perceptible effect on establishment counts is not precluded. Possibly this factor accounts for some of the differences between 1948 and 1954 establishment counts, particularly in certain areas, mainly rural ones, and in certain kinds of business (e.g., gasoline filling stations). On the other hand, it is possible that in the 1954 Census some establishments which should have been classified as "nonstores" (and therefore would not have been covered in the 1948 Census—see Item 4 above) were classified as "stores" because of the limitations of the kind-of-business description appearing on the tax report. It has not been feasible to establish the degree to which these factors affected the 1954 Census establishment statistics count or what their effect has been on either area or kind-of-business establishment count comparisons with 1948. As noted above, the effect on total dollar volume comparisons would be very small.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF DATA

In accordance with Census law, any data which would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business organization are not published. The number of establishments in a kind of business is not considered a disclosure by Census rules, so that this item is shown in instances where other items of information for the same establishments are suppressed.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments.—Census of Business figures represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than for companies. A separate report was obtained for each location where business was conducted, including each location of multiunit organizations. Each report in the census was tabulated in accordance with the physical location at which the business was conducted. Although the tabulations of the census are on an establishment rather than ownership basis, in certain tables the establishment figures are grouped into ownership categories. This will be the case in the "Single Units and Multiunits" chapter of Volume I, Retail Trade and in a planned company statistics bulletin covering company activities in all parts of the 1954 Censuses of Business, Manufactures, and Mineral Industries.

Where two or more activities were carried on at a single establishment, the entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it included in that classification. However, when these activities were conducted by separate business entities, each entity was treated as an establishment. Thus, a leased department in a department store was treated as a separate establishment and is included in these tabulations on the basis of its activities rather than as a part of the store within which it operates. (See COMPARISON OF 1948 AND 1954 CENSUSES, above.)

This volume does not include figures for those locations of a multiunit organization which service or are auxiliary to the retail stores of the organization, such as separate warehouses, administrative offices, etc. Information for this type of unit will be included in Volume I of the 1954 Census of Business In the 1948 Business Census, figures for such units, where included in the tabulations, were separately identified.

Sales.—Sales are defined to include total receipts from customers during 1954, after deduction of refunds or allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Sales include receipts from repairs and from other services to customers, as well as the sale of merchandise, but exclude amounts other than those received from customers, such as income from investments, and rental of real estate. They include the amount of local and State sales taxes or Federal excise taxes which are collected by the store directly from customers, and paid directly by the store to a local, State, or Federal taxing agency. Gasoline, liquor, tobacco, and other excise taxes which are paid by the manufacturer or wholesaler and passed along to the retailer also are included.

The sales figures, therefore, represent total sales and receipts of all establishments primarily engaged in retail trade. They do not include retail sales made by manufacturing, wholesale, and service establishments, and other establishments whose primary activity is other than retail trade. They do, however, include receipts other than from the sale of merchandise at retail (e. g., service receipts, sales to industrial users, sales to other retailers, etc.) by establishments primarily engaged in retail trade.

Payroll, entire year.—Payroll includes all forms of compensation (salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, and payments in kind) paid during the year to all employees. For corporations, it includes amounts paid to officers and executives; however, it does not include compensation of proprietors or of partners of unincorporated businesses. Included in payroll are the value of payments in kind, such as free meals, lodgings, etc., received by employees from their employers but not amounts received by employees as tips, etc. Payroll is reported before deductions for Social Security, income tax, insurance dues, etc.

Payroll—workweek ended nearest November 15.—This item consists of payroll, as defined above, which was paid to persons on the payroll in the pay period ended nearest November 15, 1954. Establishments whose payroll period was other than a week were requested to adjust the figures to a weekly basis.

Paid employees—workweek ended nearest November 15.—Paid employees consist of the number of employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll for the workweek ended nearest November 15.

Full workweek employees.—Full workweek employees include employees, whether regular or seasonal who, for the specified pay period, were paid for working at least the number of hours typically worked in a week by employees of the reporting establishment. All other employees paid during that workweek were reported as part-workweek employees.

Proprietors of unincorporated businesses.—This item includes owners or partners of unincorporated businesses who devoted the major portion of their time to the operation of the business.

CITY SIZE

Each establishment included in the 1954 Census of Business was classified into one of nine city-size groups, based on the number of inhabitants in the city in which the establishment was located. City size was determined by the 1950 Census of Population count, except for places which had special censuses taken by the Bureau of the Census between April 1, 1950, and September 15, 1954. The group entitled "Remainder of United States" includes all establishments located in incorporated cities of less than 2,500 inhabitants and in rural areas.

STANDARD METROPOLITAN AREA CONCEPT

In addition to those for States, counties, and cities, Census of Business statistics are presented for standard metropolitan areas. These are areas which have been defined and established cooperatively by a number of interested Federal agencies under the direction of the Bureau of the Budget for purposes of compilation and presentation of a wide variety of statistical data on a uniform area basis.

The general concept adopted in defining a standard metropolitan area was that of an integrated economic area with a large volume of daily travel and communication between a central city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the outlying parts of the area. This resulted in an area considerably more restricted, especially for the larger cities, than the "market" or "trading" area. Each area (except in New England) consists of one or more entire counties. In New England, metropolitan areas have been defined on a town basis rather than a county basis. A complete statement of the principles adopted as a guide in applying this general concept to the definition of individual areas will be found in a document issued by the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President, dated July 28, 1950, entitled "Standard Metropolitan Area Definitions."

The 173 standard metropolitan areas in continental United States and Hawaii for which 1954 Census of Business data are included in this volume are those defined by the Bureau of the Budget as of June 8, 1954. (See list on page 17 .)

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATION

Each retail establishment was assigned a kind-of-business classification, in accordance with the provisions of the 1949 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, as subsequently amended by the Bureau of the Budget for use in the 1954 Census of Business. The exclusion of milk dealers and the separation of "nonstore" retail establishments (as described below) from other retail establishments are amendments made subsequent to the 1949 edition. It should be noted that kind-of-business classifications are not interchangeable with commodity classifications. Food stores, for instance, sell commodities other than food, while food is sold in other kinds of stores than food stores.

The techniques used in classifying establishments by kind of business in the 1954 Census, as well as the items of information collected for classification purposes, differed from those of the 1948 and earlier Business Censuses. In the earlier censuses it had been the practice to collect data on sales by merchandise lines from all establishments and establish a classification primarily based on the data so collected. In the 1954 Census a number of factors made it necessary to evolve a classification system based on other information. The system actually used was to ask each establishment to select and check the box which best described its kind of business and to provide a "Yes" or "No" answer with respect to the handling of specific merchandise lines. These questions were supplemented, where practicable, by requesting the establishment to report the percentage of total sales accounted for by certain key lines or commodities. The establishment's designation of its kind of business was accepted as correct, whenever the supporting information on merchandise lines handled (or on percent in specified lines) was consistent with the designation. The inquiries on the various retail forms with respect to merchandise lines handled are shown at the end of this introduction.

The problem of classification in the 1954 Business Census was somewhat complicated by the fact that establishments similar in character could have received different type census forms on which to report their 1954 businesses. This occurred because the classification information, on which the mailing of forms was based, was not always complete or sufficiently up-to-date in terms of what was needed for the final classification. While each of the report forms required the establishment to designate its kind of business, the supporting information which was requested necessarily varied from form to form. In some cases this undoubtedly resulted in different classifications being assigned similar establishments.

Because "nonemployers" were not required to prepare 1954 Business Census reports (information for them having been furnished by the Internal Revenue Service from 1954 tax returns) the system described above could not be used in classifying their returns. For the "nonemployers" the only information available for classification was the designation or description of the establishment entered on the tax form by the proprietor. This limitation precludes a comparison with 1948 data for certain kinds of business. (See page 9 for a listing of all kinds of business for which data have been included in the census. Note that only data for those kinds of business preceded by an asterisk are comparable to 1948; data for other kinds of business are not comparable because "nonemployer" tax forms could not be classified in this detail.)

Also the handling of leased departments within retail stores as noted in item (6) of COMPARISON OF 1948 AND 1954

CENSUSES would have an effect on certain kinds of business classifications even though the definition had not otherwise been changed. A statement mentioning leased departments is included in the definition for kinds of business when the 1948 Census definitions mentioned leased departments and in those classifications where the 1948 data indicate the change may be a significant factor in evaluating the data.

The difference in information collected and in the method of classifying establishments in the 1954 Business Census, as referred to above, led to some differences in the classification assigned as compared with the one which would have resulted from the previously used system. Although a precise measure of these differences is not available at this time, there is evidence that frequently the differences in the codes assigned tended to offset each other. Known factors which might cause differences in specific kinds of business as compared with past censuses have been noted in the kind-of-business descriptions below.

The kinds of business defined below are arranged by groups, with special attention given to principal kinds of business within each group. Significant changes in definition since the 1948 Census of Business are noted.

Food Stores

The food group includes retail establishments primarily engaged in selling food for home preparation and consumption. Establishments primarily engaged in selling prepared food and drinks for consumption on their own premises are classified as eating and drinking places, and stores primarily engaged in selling packaged beers and liquors are classified separately as "Liquor stores."

In previous censuses, this group included dairies which processed and bottled milk and cream if the major portion of their sales was by route delivery to the homes of consumers. Such establishments are now included in the Census of Manufactures.

Food can be an important line of merchandise in stores other than those classified in a kind of business in the food group. This is particularly the case in "General stores" in the general merchandise group. Because the classifications in the 1954 Business Census forms relied on the establishment's own designation of its kind of business to a greater extent than in the 1948 Census, a shift between food store classifications and "General stores" was possible. A preliminary investigation indicates that this shift was in the direction of an increase in "General stores"; because of the large volume represented by the food group, whatever shift may have occurred would have a much smaller effect on the food group totals.

Shifts in classification between "Candy, nut, confectionery stores" in the food group and "Refreshment stands" in "Eating, drinking places" also could have resulted because of differences between 1948 and 1954 in classification information. The comparability of data for "Meat markets" in this bulletin as compared with the previously issued 1948 Census data is significantly affected by the treatment of leased departments as separate establishments rather than as parts of the establishments (main stores) within which they operate. The effect of the 1954 procedure has been to increase the "Meat market" figures. (This occurs because in a number of grocery stores, the meat department is operated as a leased department.) The same is true of "Fish (seafood) markets" and "Fruit stores, vegetable markets," figures for which tend to show an increase because of the separate classification of leased departments. Delicatessen stores are affected by the techniques used because there is no generally recognized definition of the term among retailers who think of themselves as being in this category. The general rule mentioned above for classifying establishments may have resulted in classifying some establishments as "Delicatessen stores" which in the 1948 Business Census would have been coded as "Grocery stores."

Grocery stores.—These stores are primarily engaged in selling at retail a wide variety of canned or frozen foods, such as vegetables, fruits, and soups, in addition to dry groceries, either packaged or in bulk, such as tea, coffee, cocoa, dried fruits, spices, sugar, flour, and crackers, and other processed food and nonedible grocery items. Smoked and prepared meats, and fresh fish and poultry, fresh vegetables and fruits are also often sold, as are fresh or frozen meats.

Meat markets.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling fresh meats. They also may sell cured meats, poultry, fish, dairy products, eggs, and other commodities. These stores may butcher animals on their own account, or they may buy from others.

Fish (seafood) markets.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling fresh or cured fish, oysters, shellfish, and other sea foods.

Fruit stores, vegetable markets.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling fresh fruits and fresh vegetables. They are frequently found in public or municipal markets or are operated as roadside stands. Not included are stands operated by farmers selling only their own produce.

Candy, nut, confectionery stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling candy, nuts, sweetmeats, and other confections. Operation of a soda fountain or lunch counter is common. In the publications of the 1948 Census of Business, this classification included vending machine operators if their principal lines of merchandise were candy, nuts, or other confections.

Bakery products stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling bakery products, such as bread, cakes, or pies, over the counter, whether or not the products are produced on the premises. Bakery products stores are divided into two categories, "Bakery products stores without baking on the premises," and "Bakery products stores with baking on the premises." Stores with baking on the premises which were operated by multiunit organizations were not included in Retail Trade in 1948, but are included in 1954. Bakery plants whose products are primarily distributed directly to household consumers by means of wagon routes are included in the Census of Manufactures.

Delicatessen stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling cooked foods, such as cooked meats, prepared salads, and baked beans, ready for consumption in the home without further preparation. They often carry canned and bottled goods, groceries, beer and wine, and tobacco products, and frequently serve meals.

Food stores, n.e.c.—These are establishments primarily engaged in selling at retail specialized lines of foods such as dairy products, eggs, poultry, and health foods. In the publications of the 1948 Census of Business, this classification also included house-to-house coffee, tea, and spice distributors which are now included with the nonstore retailers.

Eating, Drinking Places

This group includes retail establishments selling prepared foods and drinks for consumption on the premises, and also refreshment stands. Eating and drinking places operated as leased departments within other places of business are included in this group (see COMPARISON OF 1948 AND 1954 CENSUSES, item 7). In the 1948 Census of Business, leased departments within retail businesses were treated as part of the establishment in which they were located.

Restaurants, cafeterias.—These are establishments primarily engaged in selling meals, both complete and short-order, and having either table or counter service or both. In the 1948 Census of Business, establishments selling only short-order meals and not having full table service were classified as "Lunch counters, refreshment stands."

Caterers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in the sale of food which they prepare but which is served elsewhere than on their own premises. The actual serving of the food at parties, etc., is usually a part of the service rendered.

In-plant food contractors.—These are establishments primarily engaged in the operation of employee restaurants and cafeterias in industrial plants, offices, etc. This classification does not include similar establishments when they are operated by the firm which operates the manufacturing plant. Although not separately identified in the 1948 Census, these establishments were included in the "Eating, Drinking Place" group in that year.

Refreshment stands.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling limited lines of refreshments such as fruit juices, soft drinks, and ice cream. These establishments usually do not have facilities for seating customers either at tables or counters.

The classification "Refreshment stands" in the 1954 Business Census is not comparable with the 1948 Census classification "Lunch counters, refreshment stands" because of the shift of short-order eating places (lunch counters) to "Eating places (except refreshment stands)" in the 1954 classification. (See Food Stores, above, for possible shifts between "Candy, nut, confectionery stores" and "Eating places" classifications.)

Drinking places.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling alcoholic drinks such as beer, ale, wine, liquor and other alcoholic beverages for consumption on their own premises. These establishments are often known as bars, beer gardens, cabarets, night clubs, cocktail lounges, saloons, tap rooms, etc. The sale of food for consumption on the premises frequently accounts for a substantial portion of the receipts of these establishments.

General Merchandise Group

This group includes stores usually selling a combination of two or more of the following merchandise lines: Dry goods, apparel and accessories, furniture and home furnishings, small wares, hardware or food. Among the kinds of business included in this group are those commonly known as department stores, variety ("5 and 10", etc.) stores, and general stores. (See Food Stores, above, and Apparel, Accessories Stores, below, for further discussion involving general merchandise stores.)

Department stores.—These are retail stores carrying a general line of apparel, such as suits, coats, dresses, and furnishings; home furnishings, such as furniture, floor coverings, curtains, draperies, linen, major household appliances, and housewares such as table and kitchen appliances, dishes, and utensils. These and other merchandise lines are normally arranged in separate sections or departments with the accounting on a departmentalized basis. The departments and functions are integrated under a single management. Establishments included in this classification must normally employ 25 or more persons.

Dry goods, general merchandise stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling piece goods, or a combination of men's and women's apparel, dry goods, hardware, homewares or home furnishings, etc. Yarn and notion shops are included in this category. Stores selling commodities covered by the definition of "Department stores," but normally having fewer than 25 employees, are also included in this industry.

General stores.—These are retail establishments usually located in rural communities and primarily engaged in selling a general line of merchandise of which the most important line is food, and the more important subsidiary lines are notions, apparel, farm supplies, and gasoline. These stores are usually known as country general stores. (See Food Stores, above, for discussion of possible shifts between General Stores and Food Stores classifications.)

Variety stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling a variety of merchandise in the low and popular price ranges, such as stationery, gift items, women's accessories, toilet articles, light hardware, toys, housewares, confectionery, etc. These stores frequently are known as "5 and 10 cents" stores and "5 cents to a dollar" stores, although merchandise is usually sold outside these price ranges. Sales usually are made on a cash-and-carry basis, with the open selling method of display and customer selection of merchandise.

Apparel, Accessories Stores

This group includes stores primarily engaged in selling clothing, shoes, hats, underwear, and related articles for personal wear and adornment.

Because apparel and apparel accessories are important lines in many "general merchandise" stores, analyses of the apparel trades should take into consideration data for both "general merchandise" and "apparel" stores. This is especially important when comparisons with the 1948 Census are made, because of shifts in classification which could have resulted from differences in the classification procedures of the two censuses.

Shoe stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling shoes. The group includes men's shoe stores; women's shoe stores'; family shoe stores'; and children's, juveniles' shoe stores. Family shoe stores are primarily engaged in selling footwear for men, women, children, and infants without specializing in any one line. The other classifications specialize in the line indicated by the title.

It is probable that some stores selling relatively small amounts of a merchandise line other than that in which they specialize would have been classified as "men's" or "women's" shoe stores in the 1948 Business Census, but as "Family shoe stores" in the 1954 Census.

In the 1948 Census, this classification did not include shoe leased departments operating in retail establishments classified in other kinds of business. In the 1954 Census, such shoe departments are included in this classification. (See COMPARISON OF 1948 AND 1954 CENSUSES, item 7, for discussion of the possible effect of this change.)

Men's, boys' clothing stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling men's and boys' overcoats, topcoats, suits, and work clothing. Hats, shoes, accessories, and furnishings (such as shirts, gloves, hosiery, and underwear) are frequently but not always carried.

Men's, boys' furnishings stores.—These are retail establishments specializing in the sale of men's and boys' shirts, hats, underwear, hosiery, gloves, and other furnishings.

Family clothing stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling clothing, furnishings, and accessories for men, women, and children, without specializing in any one line.

Women's ready-to-wear stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling women's coats, suits, and dresses.

Millinery stores.—These are establishments primarily engaged in selling ready-to-wear and custom-made millinery, including women's hat frames and trimmings. In the 1948 Census this classification did not include millinery leased departments operating in retail establishments classified in other kinds of business. In the 1954 Census, such departments are included in this classification.

Women's clothing specialty stores, n.e.c.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling women's miscellaneous apparel and accessories, such as blouses, knit goods, gloves, handbags, and costume jewelry. Also included in this classification are establishments selling specialized lines of women's apparel not elsewhere classified, such as hosiery, corset, and lingerie stores.

Children's and infants' wear stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling children's and infants' clothing, furnishings, and accessories. Such establishments may specialize in either children's or infants' wear or they may sell a combination of children's and infants' wear.

Apparel stores, n.e.c.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling specialized lines of apparel and accessories not elsewhere classified such as raincoats, bathing suits, riding apparel, and umbrellas. Establishments primarily engaged in making and selling men's and women's outer clothing to individual order from stocks of material carried on their shelves are included in this classification, as are those establishments selling ready-made fur coats and other fur apparel or combinations of custom and ready-made fur apparel.

Furniture, Home Furnishings, Appliance Dealers

This group includes stores primarily engaged in selling goods used for furnishing the home, such as furniture, floor coverings, draperies, glass and chinaware, domestic stoves, refrigerators, and other household electrical and gas appliances, including radio and TV sets.

Establishments selling electrical and gas appliances are included in this group only if the major part of their sales consist of articles for home use. Dealers primarily engaged in selling second-hand furniture are classified as "Second-hand stores."

Furniture stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling household furniture. These stores may also sell home furnishings, major appliances, and floor coverings. Establishments primarily engaged in selling office furniture are classified in Wholesale Trade.

Floor covering stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling floor coverings of various kinds, among the more important of which are rugs, carpets, linoleum, and synthetic material tiles. Contractors primarily engaged in the installation of floor coverings are not included in this classification even though their contracts, in some cases, call for them to provide the floor coverings as part of the contractual service.

Home furnishings stores, n.e.c., antique stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling such commodities as antique furniture and home furnishings and objects of art; draperies, curtains and upholstering materials; china, glassware, crockery, and tinware for kitchen and table use; pictures, frames, lamps and shades, awnings, window shades, venetian blinds, tents, flags, and banners.

Household appliance, radio, TV stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling household appliances such as electric and gas refrigerators, stoves, vacuum cleaners, washing machines and dryers, freezers, electric irons, percolators, hot plates, etc., and radios, television sets, and record players. Included in this group are the retail establishments operated by public utilities when the establishments are primarily engaged in the selling of electric and gas appliances for household use.

In using the data for the detailed kind-of-business classification it should be borne in mind that many of the stores which specialize in the sale of radios and television sets also sell some appliances and that the same overlapping is common to those stores specializing in selling household appliances.

Automotive Group

This group includes dealers selling new and used automobiles, new parts and accessories, aircraft, motorboats, motorcycles, and automobile trailers. Establishments primarily selling trucks and motorized industrial equipment are, for census purposes, classified as wholesale establishments.

The 1954 kind-of-business titles "Passenger car dealers (franchised)" and "Passenger car dealers (nonfranchised)" replace the titles "Motor-vehicle (new and used) dealers" and "Motor-vehicle (used) dealers," used in the 1948 Census of Business publications. However, the classifications they cover are not entirely identical because in the 1954 Business Census certain auxiliary activities (e. g., operation of used car lots) of franchised dealers were not recognized as separate establishments but were consolidated with the establishment at which the principal activity was conducted. The effect of this change would be to include in "Passenger car dealers (franchised)" receipts of activities which otherwise would have been classified as "Passenger car dealers (nonfranchised)" or in the Service Trades as "Auto repair."

Passenger car dealers (franchised).—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling new automobiles, or new and used automobiles and trucks. These dealers frequently operate repair shops and used car lots and may carry stocks of replacement parts, tires, batteries, and automotive accessories.

Passenger car dealers (nonfranchised).—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling used cars and trucks, and not holding a franchise for the sale of new passenger cars.

Tire, battery, accessory dealers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling automobile tires, batteries, automobile seat covers, and other automobile parts and accessories. Such establishments frequently have facilities for tire recapping and vulcanizing. Establishments dealing primarily in used merchandise are classified as "Second-hand stores."

Motorcycle, aircraft, boat dealers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling new or used motorcycles, aircraft for private (noncommercial) use, and motorboats, yachts, and other water craft. Dealers selling parts and supplies for these products to private (noncommercial) users are included in this classification.

Household trailer dealers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling household trailers.

Automobile dealers, n.e.c.—These are retail automotive establishments, not elsewhere classified.

Gasoline Service Stations

Gasoline service stations include establishments primarily engaged in selling gasoline and other automotive petroleum products. Business places called "garages" but deriving the larger part of receipts from gasoline and oil sales are included. Gasoline service stations also sell tires and tubes, other automobile accessories, and sometimes lunches, candy, tobacco, and groceries. These establishments often perform some service and repair work in addition to their sales of merchandise.

Lumber, Building Materials, Hardware, Farm Equipment Dealers

This group includes establishments selling lumber, building materials, and basic lines of hardware, such as tools, builders' hardware, paint and glass, electrical supplies, roofing materials, and other equipment and supplies for home construction. The group also includes farm equipment dealers. Establishments in this group sell to contractors as well as to the general public.

The classifications "Heating and plumbing equipment dealers" and "Electrical supply stores" presented separately in the 1948 Census of Business have been combined into the classification "Plumbing, electrical supply stores." The difficulty experienced in segregating these establishments from closely related kinds of business in Wholesale Trade and Contract Construction even under ideal conditions, makes it quite probable that this classification is not comparable with the sum of the two which it replaces.

"Lumber yards" and "Building materials dealers" although presented in combination in this bulletin will be shown separately in other publications of the 1954 Census of Business. These classifications include establishments selling primarily to home owners, farmers, builders, general contractors and special trades contractors. In the 1948 Census, establishments of this type which sold primarily to builders and general contractors were classified in Wholesale Trade.

Farm equipment dealers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling farm tractors, reapers, mowers, plows, wagons, and related farm equipment. These establishments may sell a combination of basic lines of hardware, such as tools, builders' hardware, housewares, cutlery and related lines.

Lumber, building materials dealers.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling paint, glass, and wallpaper or any combination of these lines. Establishments primarily engaged in installing glass are not included in the Census of Business.

Plumbing, electrical supply stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling plumbing supplies and heating and air conditioning equipment or electrical appliances. Stores primarily engaged in selling electrical appliances are included with "Household appliance, radio, TV stores." See discussion above, regarding comparability with data from previous censuses.

Hardware stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling a number of basic hardware lines such as tools, builders' hardware, paint and glass, housewares and household appliances, cutlery, and roofing materials. These establishments may also sell farm implements.

Drug Stores, Proprietary Stores

Stores in this group sell drugs or proprietary medicines usually in combination with lines such as cosmetics, toiletries, tobacco, magazines and books, and novelty merchandise. However, to be classified as a drug store, the establishment must sell prescriptions.

Other Retail Stores

This group consists of establishments primarily engaged in selling, at retail, specialized lines of merchandise such as jewelry, liquor, feed, farm and garden supplies, books, sporting goods, gifts, novelties, souvenirs, music, cameras, photographic supplies, orthopedic supplies and artificial limbs, pets, hobby equipment, toys, religious goods, and monuments and tombstones. Greenhouses and nurseries are not within the scope of the census; however, florist shops are included.

Liquor stores.—Liquor stores are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling (at retail) packaged alcoholic beverages such as ale, beer, wine, and whiskey for consumption off the premises. Liquor stores operated by States, counties, and municipalities are included. Stores selling prepared drinks for consumption on the premises are classified as "Drinking places."

Fuel dealers (coal, wood).—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling (at retail) coal, coal and wood, or a combination of the lines of coal, wood, bottled gas, fuel oil, and ice.

Liquefied petroleum gas dealers.—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling liquefied petroleum gas at retail, either in bulk or bottled.

Fuel oil dealers.—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling fuel oil at retail. Dealers primarily engaged in selling fuel oil burners are classified as "Plumbing, electrical supply stores." Dealers primarily engaged in installing and servicing fuel oil burners are not included in the Census of Business.

Ice dealers.—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling ice at retail.

Hay, grain, feed stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling at retail hay, grain, and feed. These stores may also sell fertilizer. Stores primarily engaged in selling farm implements are classified as "Farm equipment dealers."

Farm, garden supply stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) seeds, bulbs, and nursery stock, and other farm, lawn, and garden supplies and tools not elsewhere classified, such as harness, irrigation and drainage equipment, and fertilizer. Stores primarily engaged in selling farm implements are classified as "Farm equipment dealers." Greenhouses and nurseries are not included in the 1954 Business Census.

Jewelry stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) any combination of the lines of jewelry such as diamonds and other precious stones mounted in precious metals as rings, bracelets, and brooches; sterling and plated silverware; and watches and clocks. Stores primarily engaged in watch and jewelry repair are classified in the Service Trades.

Book stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) new books and magazines. Sales of book clubs, previously included in this classification are not included in the 1954 Census of Business. Data for book clubs are included in the Census of Manufactures.

Stationery stores.—Stationery stores are primarily engaged in selling (at retail) stationery, such as paper and paper products (including printing and engraving), writing supplies, accounting and legal forms, school supplies, post cards, and novelties. Stores specializing in the sale of artists' supplies are classified in "All other retail stores."

Sporting goods stores.—These stores are primarily engaged in selling (at retail) sporting goods and equipment including gymnasium and playground equipment, firearms and ammunition, hunters' and fishermen's equipment, golf goods and equipment, tennis goods and equipment, riding goods and equipment, camping equipment, and skiing equipment.

Bicycle stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) bicycles and bicycle parts and accessories. Stores primarily engaged in repairing bicycles or renting bicycles are included in the Service Trades.

Florists.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) cut flowers and growing plants. Stores primarily engaged in selling bulbs and nursery stock are classified as "Farm, garden supply stores." Greenhouses and nurseries are not included in the 1954 Census of Business.

Cigar stores, stands.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) cigars, cigarettes, tobacco and smokers' supplies. These stores may or may not operate a soda fountain. Included in this classification are cigar stands operated as concessions in poolrooms, bowling alleys, drive-in theaters, railway stations, hotels, and other public places. In the publications of the 1948 Census of Business this classification also included vending machine operators primarily selling cigars and cigarettes. These are now separately classified within "Nonstore Retailers."

News dealers, newsstands.—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling (at retail) newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals. Newspaper subscription offices, and distributing offices are not included in the Census of Business. Newsstands selling newspapers only were not included in the 1948 Census of Business but are included in 1954 providing they met the total sales volume requirements. Individuals selling newspapers either by delivery to the home or on the street are also included in this classification in 1954 if they met the sales volume requirement. In 1948 this group would have been omitted because they did not maintain a recognizable place of business.

Gift, novelty, souvenir stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) combined lines of gift and novelty merchandise, souvenirs, small art goods, greeting cards, paper novelties, and holiday decorations.

Music stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) musical instruments such as pianos, violins, horns, reed instruments, drums, sheet music, and phonograph records. Many of these stores also sell record players and radio and TV sets; however, if sales are primarily of these latter items, the establishments are classified with "Household appliance, radio, TV stores."

Camera, photographic supply stores.—These are establishments primarily engaged in selling (at retail) cameras, films, and other photographic supplies and equipment. Establishments primarily engaged in finishing films are classified in the Service Trades.

Luggage, leather goods stores.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling trunks, hand luggage, and other leather items.

Optical goods stores.—These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) eyeglasses and related optical and opthalmic goods such as binoculars and reading glasses. Some of these stores may have prescription departments.

Office, store machine and equipment dealers.—These are dealers primarily engaged in selling typewriters at retail. They may also sell other office machines and equipment. Dealers primarily engaged in selling office machines and equipment other than typewriters are classified in Wholesale Trade.

Retail stores (except second-hand), n.e.c.--These are stores primarily engaged in selling (at retail) specialized lines of merchandise not elsewhere classified, such as autograph and philatelist supplies, orthopedic supplies and artificial limbs, rubber stamps, pets, hobby equipment, toys, religious goods, and monuments and tombstones.

Second-hand stores.--These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling used merchandise. Many dealers classified in this group do repair work both in preparing their own merchandise for resale and upon customers' goods. Establishments deriving the major portion of their gross income from service and repair work are classified in the Service Trades. Used car dealers are classified in the "Automotive Group."

Nonstore Retailers

In the 1954 Census, for the first time, the "nonstore" type of retail establishment has been classified on the basis of its method of selling and isolated from the "store" type. "Nonstore" retail establishments, like the "store" type of establishment, are primarily engaged in the selling of merchandise to personal, household, or farm users. However, the "nonstore" type is distinguished by the fact that the customer does not make his purchases at the establishment site. Instead, the purchase is made at the customer's home, at the site of another business establishment, or by mail order.

The three types of retail establishments in which customer purchases are made in this manner are door-to-door distributors, operators of merchandise vending machines, and mail-order houses. In the 1948 and prior censuses, these establishments were classified in one of the major "store" type groups defined above, on the basis of commodities handled. The 1948 figures shown in this report have been revised to make them comparable with the 1954 figures with respect to the "nonstore" establishments.

Mail order houses.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise by mail order. They may furnish their customers with a catalog describing and pricing their merchandise or they may receive their orders as a result of advertisments in magazines, newspapers, and other media. The establishments are subdivided into the various classifications under mail order houses on the basis of the merchandise which they handle in the same manner as has been done in the store-type classifications.

Direct selling (house-to-house) organizations.--These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise by house-to-house canvass. In general, sales are made at the customer's home by company salesmen or self-employed canvassers who deliver the goods at the time of the sale or who take orders for future delivery on a return trip or by some form of public carrier.

The count of direct-selling establishments in the 1954 Census of Business was made on a different basis from that used in the 1948 Census. In the 1954 Census, individuals who were self-employed and were engaged in the house-to-house distribution of products obtained from large direct-selling organizations were counted as separate direct-selling "establishments." Because such individuals generally had no recognizable place of business, they could not have been identified in a field enumeration such as was conducted for the 1948 Census but were accounted for by the procedures of the 1954 Census (see METHOD OF ENUMERATION, above). In the 1948 Census, the sales of such "establishments" were accounted for through the enumeration of the district office of the large direct-selling organizations. The use of the device of counting the district office as the "establishment" rather than counting each of the self-employed canvassers, as in 1954, causes the 1948 establishment counts to be noncomparable with those for 1954. A large part of the difference between the 3,236 direct selling establishments in 1948 and the 70,774 in 1954 is accounted for by this factor.

This difference in 1948 and 1954 approaches had no effect on those direct-selling organizations which distribute through their own employees rather than through self-employed canvassers. The effect of the difference in approach with respect to the organizations operating through self-employed canvassers is substantially confined to the count of establishments and does not significantly affect the dollar volume of sales attributed to the direct-selling category of business.

The establishments are subdivided into the various classifications under Direct Selling (house to-house) Organizations on the basis of the merchandise which they handle in the same manner as has been done in the store-type classifications.

Merchandise vending machine operators.—These are retail establishments primarily engaged in selling various food and confectionery items, tobacco products and other merchandise through coin-operated vending machines.

Establishments were subdivided into the various classifications within this group on the basis of the commodities sold in the machines which they reported as on location at the end of 1954.

KIND OF BUSINESS STUBS

The listing on page 9 indicates the detail in which establishments have been classified by kinds of business and also the various kinds of business presented in the different tabulations in this volume. As noted previously, the asterisks in the table indicate the kinds of business for which data are shown for both total establishments and "employer" establishments. The lines without asterisks contain data only for "employer" establishments.

It should be noted that in tables 101, 103, 104, and 105 the total of a major kind of business may be larger than the sum of the detailed kinds of business shown in the tabulations, for the reason that some "nonemployer" establishments were classified only in the major kinds of business because of insufficient information to establish a detailed kind-of-business classification.

CENSUS INQUIRIES

The data in this volume were compiled from retailer responses to the following inquiries:

CONFIDENTIAL.—This report is required by Act of Congress (13 U. S. C. 131). Your report is confidential and only sworn Census employees will have access to it. It cannot be used for purposes of taxation, investigation, or regulation.

Form Approved. Budget Bureau No. 41-54359.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS
Washington, D. C.

1954 CENSUS OF BUSINESS

Please complete and return this form to the Bureau of the Census Office shown on the enclosed envelope not later than 30 days after you receive it.

A separate report is required for each establishment (place of business). If you owned more than one place of business in 1954, but have received a report form for only one place:

a. Complete only lines c, d, and e of Item 1.

b. In the "Remarks" section of the report, list each establishment, indicating whether it is retail, wholesale, etc., and its kind of business.

c. Return this form using the enclosed envelope and you will be sent the appropriate report forms for completion.

NOTE: Those companies receiving Form NC–X2 with their 1954 census report forms should use it (instead of following the above instructions) to request additional forms.

Please read all instructions and fill in all items, entering "None" when applicable. You may report fiscal-year figures.

Cents may be omitted in preparing this report. If cents are reported, use the spaces provided.

ITEM 1.—IDENTIFICATION OF ESTABLISHMENT

a. Enter the name by which this establishment is known to its customers.

b. Location of establishment

(1) Is this establishment physically located within the actual legal boundaries of any city, town, or village? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Line b (1).—Check "No" if the establishment is not within the boundaries of any city, town, or village, even though the mailing address of the business is in such a place. Check "Yes" if the establishment is physically located in such a place even though the business mailing address is elsewhere.

(2) Actual location of this establishment

For establishments checking "Yes" in Item 1b (1):

(a) Street and number at establishment location _____

Name of city, town, or village _____
(This must be the city, town, or village within whose boundaries the establishment is actually located, even though mailing address of the business is in a different place.)

County _____ State _____

For establishments checking "No" in Item 1b (1):

(b) Street, road, or highway and number (if any) or other description of establishment location _____

County _____ State _____

Line b (2) (b).—Give a description by which your establishment can be located. In the spaces provided, name the county and State in which your establishment is actually located.

c. Federal Social Security Employer Identification Number _____ _____
(Enter number as reported on Form 941, Item 10, on latest employer's quarterly tax return under Federal Insurance Contributions Act.) (Enter all 9 digits)

Number of separate places of business operated under this Employer Identification Number ☐ One ☐ Two or more

d. Is the company identified by the number in line c owned or controlled by another company? ☐ Yes ☐ No

If "Yes," give name and address of owning or controlling company:

Name _____

Address _____

e. Does this company (line c) own or control another company? ☐ Yes ☐ No

ITEM 2.—PERIOD OWNED IN 1954

a. How many months in the year did you own this business? _____ months

b. Did you own this business on December 31, 1954? ☐ Yes ☐ No

c. Was this a seasonal business which was closed more than 2 months during the year? ☐ Yes ☐ No

ITEM 3.—TOTAL SALES IN 1954

	Dollars	Cents
a. Sales of merchandise
b. Other (include all charges for repairs and other services for customers)
c. Total (sum of a and b)
d. How much of a above represents sales for resale?
e. Of the total shown in c above, how much was excise taxes or sales taxes paid by you directly to taxing agencies?

f. Are charges for installed repair parts included in b? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Do not include in any part of this item any receipts which were not from customers of this establishment. Common examples of such receipts which should not be included are: commissions from vending machine operators, rents, sale of real estate, etc.

Line a.—Report total of all merchandise sold whether or not payment was received in 1954. Include finance charges, if any, and all excise taxes and sales taxes. Include the value of trade-ins. Do not include returned goods or allowances.

Line b.—Include total charges to customers for services of any kind whether or not payment was received in 1954. If possible include here, rather than in line a, the charges for repair parts and other materials used or installed as part of the services performed. Indicate on line f how you have reported these items.

Line d.—Enter the amount of sales made to other business concerns for resale.

Line e.—Enter the amount paid by you directly to taxing agencies as excise taxes, sales taxes, or other tax based on your volume of sales.

ITEM 4.—PERSONNEL AND PAYROLL

	Number of employees	Weekly payroll Dollars	Weekly payroll Cents
a. Total payroll for the year 1954, before payroll deductions
b. Paid employees and payroll for the work-week ended nearest November 15, 1954:
